Agricultural Society Meet.

At the annual meeting of the Agricultural Society held on the 23d, the meeting composed chiefly of farmers refused to admit the defeat of the organization.

They decided to retain their property in Stony Plain; to organize a drive for membership and special donations to wipe the slate clean of a small indebtedness, and to continue further activity along modest lines less likely to lead to future defeat.

In the knowledge of the good which had accrued to the local agricultural industry from the work of the Society in the past, it was considered unwise to allow disorganization. It was felt that better times are at hand and that live stock upon which a successful Fair largely depends, will soon be taking the prominent place it occupied a few years ago. To be sure the growth and progress of the Stony Plain district depends almost wholly upon agricultural conditions and any stimulus given to it, by either individuals or organization will be reflected in the resultant improvement.

One farmer put the matter plainly when he stated that "if we could assure that all the money disbursed by the municipalities had been spent in a cause as worthy as that of the Ag Soc, we would not need to worry about any misuse of public funds."

Arrangements are being made with the Dept of Agriculture for a show coming to be held at Stony in the near future. The meantime a canvass will be made for memberships and donations in aid of the Society.

Professionalism Is Killing Sports

It has been realized for some time that professionalism is the enemy of sport, but there is now an awakening to the fact that it is likewise killing the sports themselves. Real sport is to be found in games participated in by the masses of the people for the downright fun of one thing and for the recreation thereby enjoyed. But in the modern mad race for money, even the pastimes of people have been commercialized, and today, instead of people engaging in games themselves, and deriving pleasure therefrom and gaining physical strength and better health, they pay fancy prices to sit in the grandstand and cheer themselves hoars over the exploits of a few high salaried experts.

The old days when the corner lot ball teams vied with one another, and the town-commons was the scene of a spirited game of lacrosse or football, have gone into the discard. The youth of the present do not appear to play games for the game's sake, and for their own recreation and betterment, but are content to watch from the side-lines and bleachers.

In sports, professionalism has degenerated and turned back to the decadent days of Rome when the armies were painted with a multitude, watching the performances of a few gladiators. It was a sign of the beginning of the end for Rome of old. The Duke of Wellington has been credited with the statement that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton. Today, however, the newspapers tell of the fifty or one hundred thousand spectators watching two teams of professional players.

Boxing and the noble are of self defence has developed into prize fighting, the prize being purses of money ranging into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Professionalism killed lacrosse, the Canadian national game and one of the finest of all field games. A quarter of a century ago every town and village in Eastern Canada had its lacrosse clubs, and thousands of boys and men participated in its healthgiving activities. Then the idea of commercializing the game was conceived, and its blighting effect is seen in the practical disappearance of the game.

Canada's winter game, hockey, is going the same way. Professionalism flourishes for a while, kills the amateur game, and in killing an amateur sport likewise kills the goose that lays the golden egg, because without active amateur sports the development of players comes to an end and the supply of players for professional ranks falls off.

It has been thought that professionalism was so thoroughly well organized and deeply entrenched in the United States that it could withstand almost anything. But it is now known that the National Amateur Athletic Federation has established beyond dispute that even baseball is "slipping." Major League matches have approached amateur agencies offering co-operation for reviving sport because they foresee a famine of players.

It is seen, therefore, that the advent of professionalism not only kills the sporting instincts of the people, turning them into namby-pamby "rooters" for a group of paid entertainers instead of active participants in the game themselves, but it is demoralizing to the games as such. So long as a city or town maintains a professional baseball or hockey team, the amateur game suffers, but with the professional teams out of the way, amateur teams multiply, the game itself flourishes, and the stamina, physique and health of the youth improves. The truth of this statement has been demonstrated over and over again in Western Canada.

Professionalism has a further demoralizing effect. The player is out to win, that and that alone. His salary depends upon it, and any trick or expedient that will get past the referee or umpire is resorted to whether it is "sporting" or not. They are not playing for the "game's sake," but for the box office receipts and a prospective sale to some other club at a higher salary.

A crowd of spectators goes wild and experiences spasms of joy over a win by the "home" team although the members of the team have been recruited from the foreign countries of the continent, and have no interest in regard for "home" town—except the salinity that are getting out of it. And the same "home" crowd will groan and hiss if the visiting team achieves victory by superior play. Accompanying this so-called sport is a tendency to betting and gambling far surpassing any attendant on amateur games.

Elimination of professionalism is a general revival of interest and participation in amateur sports of all kinds is a must to be desired development in Canada and one calculated to build up a more virile, robust, self-reliant young Canadianism.

HOW ALL MOTHERS CAN KEEP HEALTH

Cares of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown

The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while her husband, both at rest and in much harder work, is in a weaker and more constitution.

It is no wonder that the woman at home is often indolaposed.

The woman who can't stand backaches and nervousness. Today women have grown up to accept these as part of the lot of motherhood.

But many and varied as her cares, there is one that is almost entirely sympathetic toward western claims for completion. Mr.

Soviet's Figures About Wheat Crop Mythical

Brought About Slump In Wheat Markets of World

The London food council has opened an inquiry into the recent remarkable increases in the price of wheat which have been followed by advances in the cost of flour and bread in Great Britain, after they had steadily declined for two months.

This sharp reaction, which has hit severely both importers and the public, is undoubtedly due in large measure to the issue of false figures of an abundant Soviet wheat yield by the Soviet Government. Its action helped to bring about a slump in the wheat markets of the world, and importers and exporters and bakers have been left with very scant stocks of wheat and flour.

Definite proof is now available that the Soviet's figures were mythical, and the Communist Government is now seeking to save its face from the discredit into which it has been brought by indicting Slobolnikoff, the finance commissioner, for having framed a badly founded budget, and by declaring that the provincial grain export committees were responsible for the extraordinary exaggerations in their official reports and will be brought before the courts.

No Profit In Wheat For The Farmer Unless Reasonable Prices Prevail

Authorities on commerce and finance are pointing out that owing to the relative high prices for wheat prevailing for the past year or so farmers have been led to plant more wheat land than is ordinarily the case and in consequence the year 1925 may see over-production and lower prices says the Toronto Saturday Night. For instance, it is stated that United States farmers are sowing enough more land to winter wheat to give a forty per cent. increase over this year's winter wheat crop, after making all allowances for ordinary risks. There is also indications that next year's crop in Europe, including Russia, will also be larger, with possibly a very considerable exportable surplus from the last-named country.

Unless our statisticians are all wrong, and that is unlikely, there is no profit in wheat for the farmer when it is selling around one dollar per bushel in Liverpool. For instance, to transport wheat from a central point in the prairie provinces to Liverpool the cost, according to the Canada Year Book, is about forty cents per bushel and sixty cents per bushel is not sufficient to cover the cost of the undertaking.

Wheat, according to these statistics, gives a better cash return per acre to the farmer of the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia than to the farmer on the prairies. Owing to two causes, more intensive cultivation and lower freights—less mileage—to the consuming market. Take the year 1925 when wheat sold down to one dollar per bushel. The average profit per acre of spring wheat for all Canada was $7.58, the highest being in Quebec, where the profit per acre is placed at $12.10, and the lowest in Manitoba, where a loss of $2.66 per acre is indicated.

In this same year United States authorities state that the average loss sustained by their farmers on wheat exported amounted to 15 cents per bushel.

The average cost of grain production in the prairie provinces (spring wheat after fallow) is set down at $15.66 per acre, taking in all cost including rental value of the land. In Eastern Canada and British Columbia the cost is placed at $19.42 per acre. All of which means that unless the crop is unusually heavy and of good quality, anything like dollar wheat is not a paying proposition, where marketing conditions are adverse as they are a couple of thousand miles from the seaboard.

Hens Like Weekly Bath

Innovation Started at Hamilton Poultry Farm Proves Popular

A weekly bath for hens is the latest at poultry farms in Ottawa and Allegan counties.

Modern poultry farms are equipped with "hen laundries" and the aristocratic hens must receive a weekly bath.

The "hen laundry" was started by A. J. Klomparens, of Hamilton, and has been adopted by other poultry raisers. Mr. Klomparens has been exhibiting fowls at poultry shows for 26 years. He decided several years ago that the chickens should have a weekly bath. So the "hen laundry" was planned.

Mr. Klomparens found that chicks soon learned to like their "bath." At first the hens complained, but after a few trips to the laundry they seemed to enjoy the bath. Other poultry raisers, finding that Mr. Klomparens was a consistent winner at the shows, decided to add a "hen laundry" to their equipment.

Today no poultry farm in this section of the state is complete without a "hen laundry," where the birds receive a warm bath weekly.

New Industry For Manitoba

Plans Being Made to Manufacture Twins From Hemp Grown In Province

An industry that may prove of importance to the farmers of Manitoba is being quickly organized by a group of business men in Winnipeg. It is proposed to establish a soap and candle factory in the city and the plans call for the manufacture of soap and tallow from hemp grown in the province.

That hemp may be successfully grown in Manitoba has been proven by various experiments and field tests carried out during the past five years. The quality of the Manitoba product compares favorably with hemp produced in what are regarded as the special hemp producing areas of the Old World, Wisconsin and Kenya on this continent.

Not only has the quality of the hemp grown been proved, but prospects for the permanent establishment of the industry within the province are further enhanced by the fact that the Dominion Government last year granted a bounty of $15.00 per acre for a period of eight years, on hemp and tallow manufactured in this country, and to encourage hemp production. The bounty starts during the present year at the rate of 15¢ a pound.

Official records show that Manitoba hemp at about $12 a ton will net the farmer the equivalent of wheat if used at $30 an acre. The churning should be completed in from twenty-five to thirty minutes. For washing the better clean, pure water, not varying more than three degrees from the temperature of the butter-milk, should be used, finally the butter should be put in neat, clean and attractive packages.

Broad Sows Thrive On Leguminous Hay

Proved in Tests Made at Ohio Experimental Station

Alfalfa, or clover hay, with 3 to 4 pounds of tankage, and 8 to 12 pounds of corn, proved an excellent combination for broad sows in winter feeding tests conducted at the Ohio experimental station.

The leguminous hay, replacing part of the grain, supplies needed bulk to the ration, and has a desirable laxative effect. It is also beneficial because of the protein mineral and vitamin content. Bright green, leafy alfalfa proved best.

By feeding the uses may be started rakes, covered to exclude rain, and snow, the sows will be induced to take the exercise which is essential to the production of thrifty pigs.

If the ration is to meet the needs of broad sows, it must contain a more liberal supply of protein and minerals than is found in grains alone. Corn fed in this way has not proven useful.

The World Wheat Supply

Will Be Barely More Than Enough To Meet Needs.

The largest estimate of the Argentine wheat crop from the harvest now being gathered stands at 214,582,000 bushels, $1,000,000 less than first estimated, and compares with 151,141,000 bushels in 1924-25, and 201,552,000 bushels the annual average for the five years 1919-20 to 1923-24.

The increase of less than 24,000,000 bushels over the previous year will not equal the reduction in yield in Australia where harvest is on at the same time. It is quite clear now that the English authority was right when he said that the world wheat supply at present available will be barely more than sufficient to meet world needs between now and next August.

Will Turn to Fine Substitutes.

The shortage of Argentine goats is causing manufacturers of automobile bodies alarm.

Argentine goats are the source of supply for mohair velveteen which covers the upholstery in many of the high-grade American automobiles.

In spite of the fact that America is the largest consumer of genuine mohair velveteen, only a comparatively few Angora goat herds are raised in this country.

Butter Making On the Farm

Instructions For the Production of Butter of High Quality

Dairy-farmers who have no creamery or cheese factory near enough to be available to them will find a new bulletin on butter making on the farm, just issued by the department of agriculture at Ottawa, of great interest. This bulletin gives detailed instructions for the production of high-class butter on the farm. It is pointed out that much of the butter produced on the farm is of inferior quality. The main defects as compared with creamy butter being staleness, bad flavor, rancidity, too many shades of color, and the fact that it is often placed on the market in packages that are not their attractive nor appetizing to handle.

The annual fair of the farmers of Canada as represented by the difference in value of farm dairy butter and creamy butter amounts, it is stated, to several million dollars per year.

The bulletin, which was prepared by the dairy and cold storage branch, and is distributed free by the publications branch of the department, emphasizes the observance of a number of rules as being necessary if the best results are to be obtained in farm dairy work.

Only good cows should be kept and fed to fatten them and kept comfortable and clean when in the stable. Cream should be skimmed of such richness that it will show testing about 30 per cent. of butter fat. It should be cooled to under 60 degrees Fahrenheit and kept cool for twelve hours before churning.

The churning should be completed in from twenty-five to thirty minutes. For washing the better clean, pure water, not varying more than three degrees from the temperature of the butter-milk, should be used, finally the butter should be put in neat, clean and attractive packages.

Taller Songs Published

Bourneville has a singing tailor whose compositions are coming into national prominence. His name is Cowper Williamson. Although he has no knowledge of the theory of music, he writes witty verses and improvised music which one of his friends writes down and arranges.

Many of his songs have been used in local concerts and now are being published.

Garnet Wheat May Only Be Success On Certain Soils

It is a most serious matter to change from a wheat that has demonstrated its value, as Marquis has, for a wheat which has yet to be proved fully.

Speculation in wheat is not confined to the wheat market. Farmers speculate with new types of wheat which have not so well in others.

Time will probably show that Garnet is a good wheat to be grown on certain soils, where the volume of moisture fits its needs, and that in other districts it will be better to stay with Marquis.

TRAINING FOR THE DOG DERBY AT BANFF

Present plans call for a world's championship dog race, to be run in the coming winter carnival in Banff. In February, the race to be run from Calgary to the top of the world and back to Banff, a distance of 186 miles, 50 miles through prairie and foothill country, the remainder through the Bow River pass to the Great Continental Divide and back to Banff. The first lap of the three-day race will carry the competitors within sixteen miles of Banff. Passing through Banff next day, the second lap will be completed on the Great Divide. Noon next day will see the completion of the race in Banff.

Seven dog teams are utilizing Banff's new blanket of snow to get in shape for the coming dog derby. Harry Knight, last year's winner, the eighteen-year-old boy master, recently bought three new dogs to augment his team for this year's team. The Mills, who cut the tape eight minutes behind Harry, are negotiating for some of the best dogs in Canada.

The dogs spent the summer in cool kennels amongst the pines and spruce around Banff, training the canines to eat only three-quarters of a pound of raw meat a day.

Like a frisky horse who has spent some time in the barn lying on oats, these dogs do not "feel their meat" when they sense the ring of the harness for the first time in the fall. Broken carolines, half snipped harness is the toll exacted by these frisky hounds during the preliminary frenzied run-aways when they hit the trail again after a summer of inactivity.

A friendly spirit of rivalry exists between the dog team owners in Banff. They train together, running their teams along the same course and passing each other to accustom them to passing a competitor in the race without fighting. Young pups who are allowed to play with the lead dog when not in harness, are given a chance for a mile or two daily behind the lead dog. Then they run beside the team. They are so intelligent, they grasp the significance of their new duties almost immediately.

How war is regarded by the "Big Business" man who is at the head of the United States treasury is indicated by Secretary Mellon's annual report of his department.

"The expenditures which are directly or indirectly attributable to war and the national defense compose over 90 per cent. of total federal expenditures. The amounts spent by this government in aid of agriculture, better roads and other constructive efforts, are insignificant when compared with outlays due to wars and national defense. This will be the inevitable situation as long as war is the method of settling international disputes."

The people of the United States are devoted to the cause of peace. But they elect senators who block the way to the abolition of war, and to the inauguration of a period of international cooperation. The American public wants taxes reduced, but allows its public representatives to work for the perpetuation of a system that eats up 90 per cent. of the national revenue, and which is directly responsible for the present war.

While Europe pledges herself against war, the United States Government plasters the country with appeals to young men to join the nation's military forces.

War is destructive of the prosperity and happiness of the human race, and is a foe to justice. Yet it can be cast off, only by concerted action on the part of the leading nations of civilization.

Europe has gone nearly as far with her peace policies as she can go without help from the United States. If America will not participate in the court of international justice or join in the further reduction of armaments she may destroy the most hopeful movement that has developed in our times.

The United States at one time looked upon the League of Nations as a combination of countries by whose power, which are laying the foundations for future wars. Now that America has given proof of her sincere desire to escape from the wiles of war, the United States should hasten to make effective the Old World's good intentions.

Standardized List of Seeds

Protecting the Farmer and Gardener From False and Spurious Varieties

In its service of protecting the farmers and gardeners who purchase seed grain or seeds of other crops the Dunham seed branch prohibits the use of false or spurious variety names and other misrepresentations in advertising and selling. In order to make this work more effective the branch has compiled a simplified and standardized list of variety names of all kinds of agricultural field and garden vegetable seed to be used in certain catalogues and other forms of advertising in the seed trade. That this undertaking had become necessary is shown by the fact that chely through the elimination of synonymous names no less than 2,167 names have been omitted from the original list compiled from seed catalogues. The list, as it now stands, consists of about three hundred names of principal varieties and is held open for revision from time to time.

Gives Advice To Germans
The former Kaiser has contributed an article to a book published recently, "The Opposition of the Germanic Movement to Judaism and Christianity," in which he urges Germans to "break away from the belief that Jehovah, the god of Jews, is our god." Christ never used the word "Jehovah," William writes.

"Our slogan must be 'away from Judaism, with its Jehovah,'" he writes.

Prison Population

Government Report States Number of Inmates in Prisons Are Decreasing

The average daily population of Canada's penitentiaries is decreasing, judging from the report of the superintendent of federal jails for the last fiscal year. In that year there were 2,317 unwilling guests of the federal government on any average day. In the previous year there were 2,375 and in the year before that 2,582.

The cost per capita per day was lower last year than in 1923, but higher than in 1924. The figures are: 1925, $1.68; 1924, $1.30; and in 1923, $1.53.

The general cost of administration of the several federal penitentiaries administered under the superintendent of penitentiaries for the Dominion is $1,685,192 for the last fiscal year. From this is deducted $165,328, revenue earned by the work of the prisoners.

ON THE AIR

What is Doing in the World of Radio

Weighting less than 100 pounds, a small radio device by which one can maintain diversion of 1,000 planes in battle has been perfected secretly in the United States.

The listener is considered the biggest factor in radio broadcasting today. Practically every broadcast station is sending out test programmes to determine the desire of the radio public.

Setting a record for Saskatchewan in two-way wireless communication, L. H. Denyer, 2021 Albert Street, Regina code artist, talked to A. S. Chung, of Honolulu, Hawaii, 9.55 to 10.12 o'clock one evening recently.

A score of men, on top of the world, at remote points within the Arctic Circle, recently clustered around radio sets in police barracks or trading post huts to hear greetings from the postmaster-general of Canada and Hudson's Bay Company officials, and a musical programme broadcast from radio station KFKX at Hastings, Neb. The programme began at 9 o'clock and lasted until midnight. Results of the radio cast will not be known until the Arctic regions open up next summer.

Is radio developing a mysterious and uncanny "radio sense" in habitual radiocloniists?

It is well known that the deprivation of one of the senses serves to sharpen and make more acute those remaining. KFI's officials at Los Angeles believe that the recipient, who is essentially blind before a loud speaker, has instinctively developed an unbelievable perception gained through the ear alone.

KFI bases its theory on thousands of letters which graphically and almost accurately describe persons who take part regularly on the programme. These descriptions are given by persons who have never seen the performers.

Pastor Gave Away Millions

Every Dollar of Earnings Was Spent

On Pastoring

Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell, of the Baptist Temple, New York, was a follower of Jesus in going about doing good. During his lifetime he earned $110,000,000 by his own efforts. Every dollar of it was spent in behalf of the poor, the needy, the outcast. By his liberality he won the title of the penniless millionaire. Eleven million dollars was given away by this means for the cause of charity and education. Rockefeller, Carnegie, Straus, Fick and a half dozen others have given millions for charity and education, but none gave as much in proportion as did Conwell. He gave millions and died with an estate of practically nothing. An estate of $14,000 went to his son and daughter. "He also left an imperishable name—Kingston British Whig."

Exhibition at Federal Capital May Get Dominion Government Grant.

As the result of an interview with Hon. W. R. MacKenzie, minister of agriculture in the Dominion Government, Ottawa will likely receive a grant from the Dominion Government towards extensions to the exhibition buildings at Lansdowne Park, Mayor Hallsworth stated. The fact that the world's poultry congress is coming to Ottawa, in 1927, makes it necessary said the mayor, to erect new buildings to meet the requirements of this big congress.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus and the Multitude, verses 1-4.

"After these things"—a vague note of time; see The Historical Background.

the eastern side of the Sea of Galilee, or Sea of Tiberias as it was also called, or from the city of Tiberias which Herod Antipas had built on the lake in honor of the Emperor Tiberius.

climbed the hillside and sat down, hoping to have a quiet time of communion there with His disciples.

They have been asked to have a "moving picture mind"—all life being a series of snapshots, and no chance for film exposure.

"They have seen the light" is the subject; they are a bundle of transient impressions and confused ideas," says Dr. H. P. Faunce, "Solicitor to the Queen's Bench, London."

He is referring to the soul of man as a growing tree—if it is cut down, the tree or the plant is stunted and dwarfed."

A great multitude of people, attracted to him by His words over the sea, followed him, foot by foot, along the northern end of the lake. "They were Galileans on their way to the Passover at Jerusalem, the second one in Jesus' public ministry."

Say Parley Would Be Mostly Political

London Paper Comments on Proposed Imperial Conference.

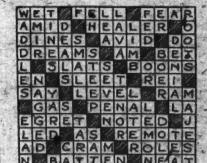

The Evening Standard says that if the proposed Imperial conference is held in October, next it will be primarily political.

The political United States, however, is in no immediate danger. The Standard adds, "but the economic organisation (the Imperial economic committee) is practically non-existent."

Continuing, The Standard says:

"The formulation of definite plans for the development of ample markets and the organisation of Imperial trade cannot be done in six months but could be done by October, 1923."

Answer to Last Week's Puzzle

Livestock In Good Condition

Western Cattle Running Outside and Farmers Selling

The department of agriculture and colonization reports that livestock in the west are in better condition at this period than for many years past. Almost entire absence of snow is enabling farmers to keep their cattle and horses running outside, with a consequent saving of feed. The reserve supply of feed is also having the effect of increasing the number of cattle being carried through the winter.

DECIDE AGAINST THE PURCHASE OF ELEVATORS

Calgary.—H. D. G. Schoufield, Crossfield, was re-elected vice-president of the United Farmers of Alberta. There were no other nominations.

The delegates voted against acquisition of elevator facilities by the Alberta Wheat Pool at the present time.

The question came before the convention in the form of a resolution asking the convention to demand that the wheat pool board take immediate action to prevent the purchase of elevators. Coupled in interest with the vote of the convention was a lengthy statement on the matter made by the president of the United Farmers of Alberta, H. Wood. He spoke, however, in his capacity as chairman of the board of directors of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Mr. Wood was definite in his opposition to the acquisition of elevator facilities at the present time. "You are going to drive the pools out of business if you drive them into premature elevator development," he said.

He declared that it appeared to him as though there was a movement on foot to wreck the pool through an attempt to force it into acquiring elevator facilities. "It would be possible," he said, "to force the pool to spend $10 or $20 million dollars for elevators, then, while the pool was loaded up with debt, make a real fight against it while it was financially embarrassed."

"It looks as though this movement might be getting some assistance by some farmers at the convention," he said.

The vote against the resolution followed its statement.

No Liberal-Labor Alliance

Lloyd George Denies Rumor in a Speech in Wales.

London.—Rumors that he intended to launch a movement for a Liberal-Labor alliance were denied by David Lloyd George in a speech at Carnarvon, Wales. He said that it would be unsafe for Liberals to negotiate an alliance with any party, but it should concentrate its energies to reaching the goal of securing a large Liberal representation in the next parliament.

When that was achieved it would be time to consider co-operation with men who were prepared to support its programme, whether it involved a coalition government or not.

Trade Prospects Very Bright

Canadian Trade Increase in Past Nine Months is $295,000,000.

Ottawa.—Total Canadian trade for the nine months ending December, of the fiscal year, was $1,726,900,000, or $295,000,000 more than in the corresponding nine months of the previous fiscal year. Export trade again showed the greatest increase. Domestic exports totalled $1,026,000,000, an increase of approximately $202,000,000. Imports were $685,000,000, an increase of $32,000,000. Foreign merchandise exports was $939,000,000, practically the same as in the previous nine months' period.

Scottish Thrift

London.—Glasgow's combined thrift is again exhibited in the sixteenth report submitted at the annual meeting of the savings bank which is the largest and most flourishing of its kind in the country. The deposit account now amount to over £2,000,000 sterling. Despite trade depression, there has been an increase in deposits for the year of nearly half a million. There were nearly 46,000 new accounts opened during the year.

Asks Reduction Of Troops In Rhineland

Small Prospect of Favorable Reply to Germany's Request.

Paris.—The question of the reduction of the number of troops in the Rhineland occupation will be discussed by Premier Briand with Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, while Sir Austen passes through Paris, homeward bound from Rapallo, Italy.

There is little prospect of a favorable reply to Germany's request for a decrease in the number of allied troops of occupation in the Rhineland, it was said in official circles.

There are now about 80,000 French troops in the occupied territory including service of supplies, guards and line communications. It was stated, while British and Belgians have about 8,000 each. The French require many more men than their allies because they have far greater ground to cover.

The German demand will be referred to the council of ambassadors for consideration at its next meeting, the date for which has not been fixed.

Charge Control Of Britain's Food Prices

New Zealand Products Being Held Up Pending Orders.

London.—The Manchester Guardian gives prominence to an article in that paper in which it is alleged that while the government food control is busy with the misdeeds of small shopkeepers the council gives no time to dealing with the machinations of the interests represented by certain organizations recently formed in New Zealand and Australia to control the prices of supplies of meat, butter and cheese, which have already been sent to the country.

Quantities of the primary products of New Zealand have been held up pending orders from the government with regard to the prices to be charged. The Guardian alleges, "This holdup is part of a scheme whereby the agents here of the New Zealand dairy produce control board are keeping food off the market until such time as the prices rise to a point suited to their liking," the article says, "and in the meantime the shipments are being kept down to the requisite quantities."

Profits On Liquor

Alberta Government Makes Net Profit of $1,517,185 on Operations.

Edmonton, Alta.—Net profits of $1,517,185 were made by the Alberta Government on its operations under the Liquor Act in 1924, according to a statement issued by Premier Brownlee. The full amount resulted through the business of the liquor control board was $1,666,470, covering the full calendar year.

The 1925 figures are slightly in advance of the proportionate figures for 1924 when the board operated for only eight months.

Will Buy More British Goods

This Year Will Be Best For Canada Since War.

London.—"Canada this year will be able to buy more British goods than in any year since the war," stated C. W. Johnson, Canadian National Railways manager at Montreal.

Speaking of Canada's trade recently, Mr. Johnson said that, though the best proof of Canada's economic revival is found in the changed attitude to immigration, "the three pounds to Canada's shilling came at the psychological moment, as all classes are beginning to realize the necessity of new settlers," Mr. Johnson stated.

Must Not Break Sabbath

Quebec.—Mills and factories will no longer operate on Sunday in this province, or action will be taken by the attorney-general, according to instructions issued by Premier Taschereau to Louis Goyon, deputy minister of labor, to advise the owners or managers of firms affected that Sunday must be observed.

Canadian Producers Elect Officers

Grading of Eggs, Butter and Cheese Discussed at Convention.

Ottawa.—A. W. Bayman, Ottawa, was elected president of the Canadian Producers Association at the closing session of the convention here. Other officers are: First vice-president, C. M. Henderson, Montreal; second vice-president, C. P. Rhodes, Edmonton. A. P. McLean, Regina, was elected to the board of directors.

The convention recommended abolition of the present terminology in the grading of eggs, urging that the terms extras, seconds and mediums replace the old names of extras, firsts and seconds.

George H. Barr, Toronto, in an address, declared that grading of cheese and butter had done more than any other thing in improving these industries.

Grading of cream would come into effect early this season.

Reduced Rate Westward

Premier Oliver Says B.C. Entitled to a Reduction of 2 or 3 Cents Per Hundred.

Victoria.—British Columbia is entitled to a reduction of two or three cents per hundred pounds on grain moving west from Edmonton and Calgary to the coast, under the judgment sustained by the railway board yesterday, Premier Oliver declared.

A rate of 21 cents a hundred is charged on grain moving from Edmonton and Calgary to the coast now, the premier explained. This movement, he said, should be given a rate of 19 cents almost, to put it on the same basis as the eastward movement.

Royal Family Issue From Semi-Retirement

Time of Full Mourning For Dowager Queen is Over.

London.—The court has just charged from full morning to half morning for Dowager Queen Alexandra. This permits the Royal family to issue from their semi-retirement and resume public functions.

The Prince of Wales opened an extensive engagement list with a dinner given by the South African Luncheon Club. This will be the first public function he has attended since his recent tour of South Africa and South America.

Iraq Senate Approves Treaty.

THREATS ARE RECEIVED BY SASK. MEMBERS

Regina, Sask.—Anonymous letters threatening members of the Saskatchewan Legislature who dare oppose the bill amending the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Act of incorporation, have been received by Premier Charles A. Dunning. The premier, speaking on a question of privilege in the chamber, declared his confidence that the promoters of the bill knew nothing of the threats.

Supporters of opposition groups in the house, however, denied the authorship of the anonymous letters. He pointed out that intimidation of members was punishable by the legislative sitting as a court.

Debate on the proposed amending bill today brought out the question: "Will the amending bill prejudicially affect the rights of any individual in an action now before the courts?"

"Do the provisions of the bill by which the pool seeks the right to collect 25 cents a bushel as liquidated damages, also power to secure an injunction against members breaking the contract, raise the matters at issue in the Pool-Zurawski judgment?"

The questions were raised on points of order. Mr. Speaker Robinson received his decision.

Wembley Workers Rewarded

Honors' List Issued for Those Who Made Exhibition a Success.

London.—Representations which have been so persistent ever since the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley closed for recognition of those whose work made it a success, have prevailed earlier than the authorities originally intended. An honors' list was issued which contains 35 decorations for those participating in the exhibition.

General Sir Trevor Clarke, deputy general and chief administrative officer of the exhibition, is created Knight of the Grand Cross, the highest honor awarded.

Four were made knights and twelve Commanders of the British Empire. Eight were created officers of the order of the British Empire and ten members of the Order, of which Australia and New Zealand took the lion's share.

The only woman recipient was Lady Galway, chairman of the Women's Section.

Newfoundland was represented in the list by Major L. C. Outerbridge, of St. John, who was made Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Building Super-Bomber

New York Company Starts Construction of Huge Plane.

New York.—The largest single engine bombing plane in the world is now in the course of construction for the government. It was disclosed by Thomas R. Huff, president of the Huff Daland Airplane Company.

The new super-bomber, known as the "Cyclops," will be equipped with a 25-cylinder motor, capable of developing 1,200 horsepower. The plane will have an approximate speed of 325 miles an hour, and will carry fuel sufficient for a 24-hour flight.

"Happiness is in Poetry," Says Poet

"Loyalty thought and great ideals, ennobled in poetry of genius, serve as an introduction to another, more glorious life," said Dr. B. B. Carson, considered the foremost Canadian poet, in an interview recently. "Fine poetry and excellent literature bring you where happiness is to be found."

The distinguished poet has just completed a tour of Western Canada, travelling exclusively on Canadian Pacific Railway lines, where he was scheduled to deliver a series of seminars and lectures on the Relation of Poetry to Life. His first lecture was given at the University of Manitoba in Winnipeg on January 12. Later he spoke at Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver, completing his tour on January 22.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf the War Dog.

is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

It was in the winter that a half breed found in the snow footprints of Barree, the wolf-dog. He reported to McTaggart, the factor, that he had seen prints larger than those of a fox and that the tracks were freshened.

Barree had been his enemy.

He had tried to kill the dog and the dog had inflicted wounds on him. Moreover, McTaggart had shot Pierrot, the trapper, and Pierrot had shot Barree, causing the animal to be separated from Nepease, the trapper's daughter.

The next day saw the beginning of the struggle that was to follow between the wits of man and beast. To Barree the encroachment of Bush McTaggart's trap-line was not war; it was existence. It was to turn him food, as Pierrot's line had furnished him food for many weeks. But he sensed the fact that in this instance he was law-breaker and an enemy to outwit. Had it been good hunting weather he might have gone on, for the unseen hand that was guiding his wanderings was drawing him slowly but surely back to the old beaver-pond and the Gray Loon. As it was, with the snow deep and soft under him—so deep that in places he plunged into it over his ears—McTaggart's trap-line was like a trail of manna made for his special use. He followed in the Factor's know-how; tracks, and in the third trap killed a rabbit. When he had finished with it nothing but the fur and crimson patches of blood lay upon the snow. Starved for many days, he was filled with a wolfish hunger, and before the day was over he robbed the bait from a full dozen of McTaggart's traps. Three times he struck poison-bait—venison or caribou fat in the heart of which was a dose of strichine, and each time his keen nostrils detected the danger. Pierrot had more than once noted the amazing fact that Barree could sense the presence of man even when it was more than a mile distant, and wolves ate of flesh from which his super-sensitive power of detecting the presence of deadly danger turned him away. So he passed Bush McTaggart's trap-line, seeking, among the trees, the way, and learning the story of his suspicion in the manner of his footprints in the snow. Where McTaggart had halted at midday to cook his dinner Barree made these same cautious circles with his foot.

"The Black Wolf!"

The second day, being less hungry and more keenly alive to the hated smell of his enemy, Barree ate less but was more destructive. McTaggart is keeping the scent of his hands from the traps and "house," and every now and then the smell of him was strong in Barree's nose. This wrought in Barree a swift and definite antagonism, a steady increasing desire where a few days before had been almost forgotten. There is, perhaps, in the animal mind a process of simple computation which does not quite achieve the distinction of reason, and which is not altogether instinct, but which produces results that might be ascribed to either. Barree did not add two and two together to make four; he did not go back step by step to prove to himself, that the man to whom this trap-line belonged was the cause of all his griefs and troubles—but he did find himself possessed of a deep and yearning hatred. McTaggart was the one creature except the wolves that he had ever hated; it was McTaggart who had hurt him. McTaggart had hurt Pierrot, McTaggart who had made him lose his beloved Nepease, and McTaggart was here on this trap-line. If he had been wandering before, without object or duty, he was given a mission now. It was to keep to the traps. To feed himself. And to vent his hatred and his vengeance as he lived.

The second day, in the centre of a lake, he came upon the body of a wolf that had died of one of the poison baits. For a half-hour he mauled the dead beast until its skin was torn in ribbons. He did not taste the flesh—it was repugnant to him. It was his vengeance that he had needed. He stood when he had half a dozen miles from Lee Bain, and turned back. At this particular point the lake crossed a frozen stream beyond which was open plain, and over that plain came when the wind was right—the smoke and smell of the forest. The second night Barree lay with a full stomach in a thicket of balsam pine; the third day he was travelling westward over the trap-line again.

Early on this morning Bush McTaggart started out to gather his catch, and where he crossed the stream six miles from Lee Bain he first saw Barree's tracks. He stopped to examine them with sudden and unusual interest, falling at last on his knees, whipping off the glove from his right hand, and picking up a single hair. "The black wolf!"

He uttered these words in an odd, half-voiced, and reverently eyes turned straight in the direction of the Gray Loon. After that, even more carefully than before, he examined one of the clearly impressed tracks in the snow. When he rose to his feet there was in his face the look of one who had made an unpleasant discovery.

"A black wolf!" he repeated, and shrugged his shoulders. "Bahl. Lereu is a fool. It is a dog." And then, after a moment, he uttered in a voice scarcely louder than a whisper, "her dog."

He went on travelling in the trail of the dog. A new excitement possessed him that was more thrilling than the excitement of the hunt. Being human, it was his privilege to add two and two together, and out of two and two he made—Barree. There was little doubt in his mind. The thought had flashed on him first when Lereu had mentioned the black wolf. He was convinced after his examination of the tracks that the man was Black. Then he came to the first trap that had been robbed of its bait.

Under his breath he cursed. The bait was gone, and the trap was unspun. The sharpened stick that had transfix the bait was still, cut off clean.

All that day Bush McTaggart followed a trail where Barree had left traces of his presence. Trap after trap he found robbed. On the lake he came upon the mangy wolf. From the first disturbing excitement of his discovery of Barree's presence his human changed slowly to one of rage, and his rage increased as the day dragged out. He was not unacquainted with four-footed robbers of the trap-line, but usually a wolf or a fox or a dog, but a wolf, or a fox or a dog, troubled only a few traps. But in this case Barree was travelling straight from trap to trap, and his footprints from the snow showed that he stopped at each.

At dusk he reached the shack Pierrot had built midway of his line, and took inventory of his fur. It was not more than a third of a catch; the lynx was half ruined, a mink was torn completely in two. The second day he found still greater ruin, still more barren traps. He was not a madman. When he arrived at the second cabin, late in the afternoon, Barree's tracks were not an hour old and still alive. Three times during the night he heard the dog howling.

The third day McTaggart did not return to Lee Bain, but began a cautious hunt for Barree. An inch of fresh snow had fallen, and as to take even greater measure of vengeance from his man-eater, Barree had left footprints freshly within a radius of a hundred yards of the cabin. It was half an hour before McTaggart could pick out this straight trail, and he followed this for two hours into a thick balsam swamp. Barree kept with the wind. Now and then he caught the scent of his pursuer; a dozen times he waited until the other was so close he could hear the snap of brush, or the metallic click of twigs against his rifle barrel. And then, with a sudden inspiration that brought the curses afresh to McTaggart's lips, he swung in a wide circle and cut straight back for the trap-line. When the Factor reached the line, along toward noon, Barree had already begun his work. He had killed and eaten a rabbit; he had robbed three traps in the distance of a mile, and he was headed again straight over the trap-line for Lee Bain.

Discover Strange Race

Survival of a Lost Tribe in the Wilds of North Africa

A scientific expedition, led by three French scientists, has returned to Cape Town from the remote desert regions to the north with a strange tale of the survival of a lost tribe of "strangers," the primitive cave-dwellers who formerly inhabited the coastal belt of the Cape and were believed to have become extinct.

The leaders of the expedition are Dr. C. E. Cadié, Dr. Grant H. John and Paul L. Hoefer.

The explorers have been filming bush life in the remote parts of the Kalahari Desert in the Bechuanaland Protectorate, and the Kavko Veld, the northern coastal region of the former German Southwest Africa. These are the regions chiefly inhabited by the bushmen, among the most backward of the human races.

The scientists report that the "stranglers," the name given by the cave-dwellers by the Boers when they first came to this region many decades ago, were discovered inhabiting an almost inaccessible stretch of coast which is isolated by a five-mile width of desert. The government of the South African Union is being urged to send a special expedition to investigate this territory and its inhabitants.

Little Helps For This Week

Ask, and ye shall receive.—John xii.

O weak, deaf, blind, receive! She is He who made the ear not hear, the eye not see, who made the mouth not speak.

Ask Me—Aeoline S. T. Welney.

There is nothing too great, nothing too small, for us to bring to the One of all compassion. I think it is the going to God with every want that He likes. Hence the oftener we go to the more we please Him, for our asking for us to seemly little things is for demonstrating our entire dependence on Him; and surely this dependence, this trust, is what makes us the children of our Heavenly Father.—Rose Porter.

Prediction Came True

Citizen of Bombay Foretold His Own Death On Nov. 18

An extraordinary story of prophecy—one's own death comes from Sholapur in Bombay Presidency.

Mohi Swamy, literally the Pearl of Ascetics, aged 80, had predicted, it is stated, six months ago, that he would pass away on November 18 last. Two days before that he reminded his followers that the time of his death had arrived, and at their request a photograph was taken.

On the day of his death he walked round the city and camp of Sholapur and collected money for his burial, deposited it with a municipal councilor, won thrones and, having seated himself in the yoga posture, passed away.

He—“Can you tell me how to get into the museum?”

She—“Well, you might let your hair grow long and wiggle your ears.”

Minard's Liniment relieves headache

Can be Quickly Banished With Baby's Own Tablets

The ailments of childhood are many but nine-tenths of them are due to one cause and one cause only—a disorder of the stomach and bowels. To quickly banish any of the minor ailments of babyhood and childhood the bowels must be made to work regular and the stomach must be strengthened.

No other medicine for little ones has had such success as has Baby's Own Tablets. The tablets are easily digested and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; correct diarrhea and colic and promote healthful sleep by regulating the functions of the stomach and bowels. Mrs. L. M. Brown, Walton, N.S., writes: “I cannot speak too highly of Baby's Own Tablets as I have found them excellent for childhood ailments.”

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Astronomical scientists estimate that two or three meteorites fall somewhere on the earth every including shooting stars or meteors.

It is a liniment that has the blessing of half a continent. It is on sale everywhere and can be found wherever good medicine is sold.

Stony Plain Hockeyists

Trim Duffield by 6-4.

In what was considered the best hockey game seen here in years, Eric Heichen and his talented gang of puck maulers reaped vengeance fair and sweet by giving Duffield a real trimming at the local Arenas on Sunday to the tune of 6-4.

The game was fast, without with the locals forcing the play which kept the fans not going in a state of uproar.

Stony took an early lead of 2 goals and it looked pretty easy, but Duffield came back strong in the second and scored four in a row and decided to change the situation. The third period opened fast and furious with the locals pressurized for a win, and they succeeded in scoring 3 to cinch the game.

Twenty prairie chickens were interviewed in Montreal recently and cast infinite scorn on the East. They hopped about in great excitement at meal time. The interviewer asked, "Take you a long time to pick out as good eats out West at this time of year, eh?" A chorus of shrill voices answered disdainfully, "Tut-tut-tut." They were shipped out of the country by Dominion Express, for contempt of the East.
